

23 Rule No. 1

But you're dead and the white man to the red you may be a hero and king

But you're in our way for ~~the gray man~~ and it will be too complicated to survive

The trouble is we couldn't change I heard a drunk old Indian say absolute of the most embarrassing kind we had vision we were intimate with sky + land change the hardest ~~thing~~ for our good minds that's rule no. 1

and it may well be the hardest one to do This rule no. 1

There's still no room for Indians and it will not protect helpless baseless Indians what I do best they're torn between the old ways and the ~~new~~ dances + their land and he bears that we have laughed since the dawn began.

Oh.
